GENERAL ORDER.

HORSE GUARDS, 1st April 1857.

THE QUEEN having been pleased to approve of the Dress of the Officers of the Army being established according to the following descriptions, His Royal Highness The General Commanding in Chief has received Her Majesty's commands to enjoin the strictest attention thereto; and His Royal Highness accordingly holds all General Officers, Colonels of Regiments, and Commanding Officers of Corps, responsible that these Orders for regulating the Dress shall be scrupulously obeyed.

The General Commanding in Chief has received Her Majesty's special commands to declare, that any Colonel or Commanding Officer who shall take upon himself to introduce or sanction the addition of any ornament, lace, or embroidery, or to sanction a deviation from the approved patterns in any respect whatsoever, without due authority being previously obtained for that purpose, will incur Her Majesty's displeasure.

By Command of

GENERAL

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS

THE DUKE OF CAMBRIDGE,

K.G., G.C.B., K.P., G.C.M.G.,

Commanding-in-Chief.

G. A. WETHERALL,

Adjutant General.

THE Dress Uniform is to be worn at Levees and Drawing Rooms, and on all occasions on which the Troops are in full uniform, except upon the line of march, when the Frock-Coat is to be worn.

The Blue Frock-Coat may be worn by General and Staff Officers on common occasions off Parade, and at all Parades and Field-days when the men are in marching order, except when the Sovereign or any crowned heads are present, when full dress is to be worn.

Officers of other ranks on the Staff may wear, on the occasions specified in the last paragraph, the blue Frock-Coat prescribed for them

Staff Officers who attend in Uniform as Spectators of a Review or Inspection, are to appear in the Uniform of their respective Departments,—not in the blue Frock-Coat.

When the Waist-Belt is worn over the Coat, and the Sword is hooked up, the edge must be turned to the rear, and the back of the Sword to the front.

The Sash is to be worn diagonally over the left shoulder and over the Sword-Belt, and the end of the fringe not to hang below the bottom of the Coat.

The Dress and Horse Equipments of a General Officer of Hussars are given at page 16. The special sanction of Her Majesty must be granted for the adoption of this Uniform by General Officers. Permissions to this effect once accorded, the Dress is always to be worn, except where the Officer may be a Colonel of a Regiment of another branch of the Service, when he may also wear the uniform of his Regiment.

The Rank and Department of Officers on the General Staff of the Army are distinguished by the lace and badges on their Cuffs and Collars, patterns of which are deposited at the Horse Guards.

The size and form of the buttons for all Generals, and Staff and Regimental Officers of Infantry, and Heavy Cavalry, are to correspond with the Infantry sealed pattern deposited at the Horse Guards. Patterns of buttons, lace embroidery, collars, badges and Regimental devices, and of badges for Horse Furniture of Staff Officers (under the rank of General Officers), and of Regimental Field Officers, and of the Horse Equipments for all Cavalry Officers, except the Household Brigade, are deposited at the Horse Guards. Sealed patterns of distinctive buttons, lace, Forage Cap numbers and badges, will be sent to every Regiment in the Service, and Commanding Officers are held responsible that no departure therefrom be permitted.

On all occasions on which the Queen is present, Officers in Uniform are to appear in Full Dress. The Riband of any Order of Knighthood is to be worn on those occasions over the Coat.

FIELD MARSHALS.

REGIMENTS OF INFANTRY.

The blue frock-coat, according to regulation, with the waist-belt and sword, and the sash over the left shoulder, is to be worn in quarters, on fatigue or orderly duties, at drill, and on parade, when the non-commissioned officers and men are dressed in shell jackets, except in Highland Regiments, the officers of which are to wear the shell jacket and shoulder-belt when the men are dressed in white vests.

The sash over the left shoulder and the white waist-belt and sword are to be worn on all occasions, both with the scarlet coat and the blue frock. The forage cap is to be worn with the blue frock, never with the scarlet coat.

When regimental Officers attend in uniform, as spectators, the review or inspection of troops by the Commander in-Chief, or by any General Officer, they are to appear in the uniform of their respective regiments, and not in the blue frock-coat.

At Court, and on all occasions when Officers appear in the scarlet coat, they are to wear the waist-belt and the sash over the left shoulder, the ends of the fringe not to hang below the bottom of the coat.

The Shell Jacket may be worn at mess. And also on those occasions when the blue frock is worn at home, by Officers serving at the colonial stations.

Officers serving in India are permitted to wear a serge frock, similar to that worn by the men, with badges of rank in silver.

Brevet Field Officers, doing duty with their regiments as captains, to wear the distinctive badges and lace on their coats according to their rank in the army, with the leather scabbard upon all duties on foot. When required to perform mounted duties, they will be permitted to wear, on those occasions, the brass scabbard and spurs.

The dress and appointments of the Officers of Militia Infantry are in every respect conformable to the patterns established for the line, with the following exceptions:—

Silver is in all cases substituted for gold, except for the sword knot; the crowns and stars, as badges of rank, are to be embroidered in gold upon the scarlet uniform, and in silver upon the blue frock coat, and the cap-plates are according to a pattern deposited at the Horse Guards.

When Officers of the Militia are permitted to serve upon the Staff, they are to wear the uniform of their regiment.
